To Whom It May Concern:

I am the treating physician for Roxann.

She is medically cleared to return to work on January 12, 2023 in a non-public setting.

She is restricted from working with the general public or in an office setting with other people due to her immunocompromised status in the setting of the current resurgence of COVID-19, the RSV outbreak, and current influenza season. These restrictions apply for at least the next 12 months.

We recommend that she work from home, and can do so in a full-time capacity. We advise that she cannot lift over 50 lbs for the next 12 months.

Sincerely,

[REDACTED]
